

Mr. Khalil Mack

*Deputy Director of the Office of Industrial Base Growth
Director of Defense Marketplace Readiness*

Mr. Mack currently serves as Deputy Director of the Office of Industrial Base Growth and Director of Defense Marketplace Readiness where he oversees the APEX Accelerators program, Cybersecurity & Supply Chain Readiness, Rapid Integrated Scalable Enterprise (RISE), Marketplace Tools, and Industry Engagement.

With 90+ offices across 49 states and territories, APEX Accelerators provide a critical front door for business and industry to help to expand suppliers to the federal, state, and local government marketplaces and provide opportunities for companies new to government contracting to acquire the skills and know-how to compete.

The work Accelerators do with businesses, in concert with their partners, strengthens the defense industrial base by accelerating innovation, fostering ingenuity, and establishing resilient and diverse supply chains. The result is the creation of a domestic industrial base that can deliver preeminent solutions to the military and other government users.

Mr. Mack previously held the position of Associate Director of Policy, where he was the principal advisor to the Office of Small Business Programs Director on small business industrial base related policy, regulation, and legislation. His experience also includes serving as Branch Chief for the Rapid Prototyping Acquisition Branch at the Washington Headquarters Services Acquisition Directorate, where he planned and executed non-FAR based acquisitions, including Other Transactions (OTs), and in various contracting roles for the Army Intelligence and Security Command (INSCOM).

Prior to becoming a federal civilian, Mr. Mack was a consultant, specializing in acquisition and finance, for several federal agencies including the Department of Homeland Security and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mr. Mack earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Management from Hampton University, and a Master of Business Administration from the George Washington University. He is also a graduate of the Procurement and Contracts Management Certificate program at the University of Virginia.